

4 Earth-Friendly Cleaners You Can Make at Home

When life gives you lemons (and vinegar and hydrogen peroxide and baking soda), make household cleaners. Everyone loves a clean home, but unfortunately, the cleaners most of us use are often filled with harmful, toxic chemicals. If you're looking for a kinder, gentler and earth-friendlier way to clean, the solution is as close as your pantry or grocery store. Read more at

How to Beat the Heat without Air Conditioning

You don't have to completely turn off your A/C to save electricity costs - that would be extremely hard during summer. Several ways we will introduce to you today might just help a little more to beat the heat. Learn more at diymother.org.

Smart Planning for Hurricane Season

Hurricane season officially begins June 1 and continues through November 30. If you live in an area threatened by storm surge - an evacuation zone - discuss evacuation plans with your family. Check with city or county officials to find out if your home is in an evacuation zone. Be informed and stay prepared. Learn more at
